Clara and Ann Allen deliver gift cards for the young adults we are supporting. As you can see, everyone involved was all smiles. What a great way to begin the Christmas season! Our project continues....

CHRISTMAS MEETING

Janet hosted our Christmas meeting at her house in full decorative mode. We enjoyed a meal and then had a gift exchange with some being stolen the maximum number of times. Though Patty did hold a short business meeting, we all expressed the enjoyment of the holiday spirit. Thanks, Janet!

State Convention June 20-22 Arlington

This would make a nice road trip and give us an opportunity to get with members of other chapters across the state. How about it? Are you interested in attending? If several of us want to go, we could double up and ride caravan style to the Dallas/Ft. Worth area. Think about it.

She did it again!

Clara again won the Early Bird Award for our yearbook that she compiled—think she has accomplished this title each year that she has created the yearbook. She also won the Exemplary Award for an outstanding yearbook. Thanks, Clara, for putting our chapter in a good light! You rock!

President....

Dear Sisters,

We mourn the passing of Di Ann's husband Dudley in November. Dudley was "almost" a member of our chapter, attending several meetings on the side. Several of us attended his funeral in Eagle Lake. Though we did not have a newsletter last June to mention the loss of Janet's husband Curtis in May, several of us attended that funeral as well. Curt helped us with making grape jelly and fig preserves for our fundraisers.

As we wind down 2018, let's look forward to 2019 and enjoy our many blessings. We might also look at ways we can help others during this Christmas season.

Merry Christmas!

Love,
Patty

Reminder. Bring a guest to one of our meetings. Your action will help our chapter grow and give another professional an opportunity to be a part of the organization.

Thoughts from DKG's Collegial Exchange....

Articles are composed by DKG sisters. Page 3 of this issue displays the types of articles with some deadlines still in the future. Want to shed some light on a pet subject of yours? See if you can meet the themes (if any) and deadlines stated.

As our society's method of communication evolves, so does our DKG organization. In "News about the DKG News", Carolyn Pitman explains that "publish means 'to make information known to the general public'...and may be conveyed orally, electronically, or in print." Members may still request a paper version of the publication and receive it by mail, but all others will be mailed electronically. Members with the DKG app will be notified when a new edition is available.

Much of the issue refers to the evolving changes in DKG. Why not? Look at the world in relation to 1929, the founding year. This editor remembers seeing her grandmother headed to a DKG meeting with her white gloves, with members having to provide a written request if they were going to miss a meeting. The constant that this editor sees is the continuing relationships built through women who are leaders or potential leaders in the profession.

One article provides the reflections of Jane Tanner who writes about her DKG experiences, attributing her leadership skills and the roles she plays to her DKG experiences. She also remembers her aunt who talked of an organization of key women educators. Some of our educators feel there isn't enough time to participate—teaching/administering, raising a family—but let's encourage those key people to begin the journey with us.
