BUGS IN APRIL; FOUNDERS IN MAY

Our April meeting was held at one of the latest “finds” in the restaurant world: Bobs Bar-B-Q located at the Brookshire Bros. shopping center in Montgomery.

Following our Master Gardener presentation, Karen Crum shared her expertise as an entomologist—the study of insects — so that we might better understand their purpose and how to deal with them.

We were honored to have Area Coordinator Sue Bathe as our guest at the April meeting, and she shared area and state information with us.

Dear Sisters,

The year has gone by quickly, and before you know it, we will have our planning meeting this summer as we work toward continuing our service to the community in helping children and education. Start thinking now while our memories are fresh of ideas you might have for the 2019-2020 school year.

Di Ann reported to us just this week that our bylaws have been certified to carry us through with our larger organization.

Marcia will be retiring at the end of this school year. We wonder what the future will hold for her as we wish her a relaxing and joyous retirement.

I hope to see all of you at our May meeting. Ann Allen is looking forward to hosting us. Watch for an email as we make food and program plans for the meeting.

Thanks for all that you do, both as a group and as individuals to make our chapter a viable one. I appreciate your service as leaders in education.

Love,
Patty

Reminder: Bring a guest to one of our meetings. Your action will help our chapter grow and give a professional an opportunity to be a part of the organization for leaders in education.

- Interested in one of the international conferences? Look on the inside front cover; all but one are located in the continental US. Elaine has attended one along with her husband.
- Interested in writing for the next journal? One edition will cover democracy in education, another the ways we learn, a third the evolving nature of schooling with two opportunities to write with no specific theme—page 3.
- Contributor Joan Wolfe writes on leadership giving an opportunity, not a burden and encourages others to take on a role of leadership—page 8.
- Myrna Santos reflects on the “open concept schools which became popular years ago. Research is now showing we should not have lived by that concept. I myself observed in several open concept buildings and found many students not engaged at all. I planned so that my students could move within the classroom, and the vast majority of them year after year were engaged. This should be an interesting read—page 12.
